RELOCATION: MOULTON WILL ATTEND CONFAB

E. B. Moulton, relocation program officer, will leave for Chicago, Ill., tomorrow to attend a joint meeting of project relocation program officers and field relocation supervisors. He will be back on April 26.

Discussions will include relocation in general and methods for better working arrangements between the two groups.

During the absence of Moulton, Reports Officer Austin Smith, Jr. will assist in obtaining information concerning Selective Service.

APPLICATIONS FOR RETURN OF CONTRABAND GOODS TAKEN HERE

Project Attorney Jack Curtis stated yesterday that he had recently received information that some evacuees had been writing directly to the Evacuee property officer, District attorneys and Police officers on the West Coast requesting the return of contraband property.

Curtis pointed out that under the present procedure, it was necessary for applications for the return of this type of property to be made through his office. He said that if the requests were sent directly to the West Coast, it would be necessary for them to be returned here before they could be approved.

The project attorney's office will be glad to give assistance and information to anyone who is interested in regaining possession of such property, Curtis said.

Games, Food, Drinks Today At High School Carnival

Rohwerites!!! Step right up and try your luck, at the same time, help the prepsters raise their annual fund. Come out and aid the students in boosting their funds. Bright lights, spring air and loud music will be the order of the day, today and tonight, from 2 to 11 p.m. The entire Rohwer high school student body, with the aid of the Knights, a high school boys' organization, is sponsoring the one-day carnival and raffle at the local high school campus, Block 35.

With the 23 club sponsored booths, everything will be featured, from baseball throw, bingo, darts, dibs, to juke box, penny pitch, fun house, and a weight guesser. For those who boast eating as their hobby, hot dogs, donuts, pies and other delicacies will be sold. And if they should parch your throat, delicious thirst quenchers will be also on tap. Best of prizes will be offered in the booths.

Don't miss this chance!

CANNERY JOBS OPEN RECRUITER HERE FOR INTERVIEWS

E. Stanley Parsells, employment manager for the Deerfield Packing Corporation which is a subsidiary of the famous Seabrook Farms near Bridgeton, New Jersey, is now in the center recruiting employees for the packing company. Parsells will be at the Leave office Monday for interviews.

At this time he is seeking 250 women workers for canning house employees; and 150 men for all kinds of work, including welders, electricians, blacksmiths, painters, truck drivers, and laborers. Women working in the cannery receive from 50 to 55 cents per hour; and the wage for the men workers averages from 55 to 61¢ an hour, but may go as high as 93 cents an hour for mechanics, and other skilled workers are paid in proportion. Employment on a twelve month's basis is guaranteed.

Board and room in a new dormitory are now available for single workers, both men and women, at the cost of $8 per week. All workers belong to an AFL Union and new workers are accepted after a trial period. Dues are $2 per month.

Center residents must have joint Board clearance if possible, but if they do not have such clearance and are interested in this work, their names will be submitted to Washington for special clearance. Parsells stated that 15

Speed Actions On Leave Clearances

Actions on leave clearances which are coming from the Washington office have speeded up. An average of 20 per day have been received for the past two weeks, reported E. B. Moulton, relocation program officer.

It is hoped that the majority of persons who have had hearings will receive their clearances within the next two weeks, Moulton said.
